

Speaking & School Visits

Diane E. Keyes Author/Librarian

Children's book author and librarian,
Diane E. Keyes, loves to share her love of reading!

A school visit by a children's book author is an exciting way to promote literacy. I love to visit schools and share with students the joys of writing and reading. After more than sixteen years of being a public youth services librarian and more recently as an author, I've spoken to over TWENTY THOUSAND children. Phew! Presentations for my author school visits are designed to fit the specific event or school. Speaking topics include the self-publishing process, the writing process, and the importance of reading. It is my goal that the teachers and students leave each presentation with new skills and ideas. I'm happy to tailor presentations to meet the curricular needs of each school. I have as much fun talking to round tables of young authors as I do at large school assemblies.

Give me a call!

I'm always interested in helping you make an author visit happen!
